Middle Park

Deutsche Bank head of structured debt Geoff Tarrant has sold his Aqualina penthouse in Middle Park, Melbourne, before its May 31 auction. The London-based executive sold his Australian toe-hold having purchased the two-level waterfront property before its 2007 completion. The four-bedroom, four-bathroom Beaconsfield Parade unit is one of four in the block and has views of the city and bay. There is a combined living and dining area, rear terrace and direct lift access to both levels. The property is close to Albert Park Lake, St Kilda, and has a storeroom, parking for two cars and air-conditioning. Tarrant sold prior to finding something a little bigger in the city. Abercromby's Real Estate director Jock Langley sold the property for more than $2.7 million.
