

▲ 148 Cecil Street, South Melbourne

This double-storey Victorian terrace embodies classic character and charm.

The delightful house, close to public transport and the vibrant hub of South Melbourne, has a formal living area that opens into an adjoining dining room. The well-appointed kitchen is finished with wooden benchtops and has a meals area.

Highlights of the residence include the glassed-in conservatory adjoining the split-level lounge, and a courtyard ideal for outdoor entertaining. Two of the three second-storey bedrooms have built-in wardrobes and access to a separate deck or balcony.

Additional features include heating, leadlight windows, polished floorboards and storage space under the stairs.
