Beyond the elegant living area of this renovated terrace on Powlett Street is an entertainment haven.

While the living room is comfortable and inviting with its downlights, timber floors and white interiors, the outside courtyard has also been designed for a comfortable lifestyle. Floor to ceiling glass doors lead to a paved area, which is the work of garden design veteran of 25 years Paul Bangay. Behind the Victorian facade, the three-level terrace, extensively renovated by the previous owner, Judy Gosper, has modern interiors, three bedrooms, three bathrooms, a study and walk-in cellar.

There are multiple living areas on each floor, central kitchen and double garage.

Abercrombys agent Jock Langley has the listing. An expressions of interest campaign will close on October 25. More than $2.7 million is expected.
